

Time – 3 Hrs.

Marks – 100

- N.B.
1. All questions are compulsory.
 2. Draw neat labelled diagrams wherever necessary.
 3. All questions carry equal marks.

Q.1 Attempt any two:

- a. Describe the anatomy of a typical Lepidodendron stem. Add a note on its systematic position. 20
- b. Describe the stem of Lyginopteris oldhamia & add a note on its systematic position.
- c. Give an account of Pentoxylon.
- d. Birbal Sahni is the pioneer of Palaeobotany in India- Comment.

Q.2 Attempt any two:

- a. Discuss Bentham & Hooker's system of classification. 20
- b. Give an account of insertion of floral whorls in flower.
- c. Give the classification, distinguishing characters and floral formula of family Capparidaceae.
- d. Give a detailed account of the plants of economic importance of Poaceae (Graminae). Add a note on the type of its inflorescence.

Q.3 Attempt any two:

- a. Explain any two types of root-stem transition studied by you. 20
- b. What is anomalous secondary growth? Add a note on anomalous secondary growth in the roots of Beet.
- c. Describe the anomalous secondary growth in the stem of Bignonia.
- d. Enlist and explain various types of stomata studied by you.

Q.4 Attempt any two:

- a. Give a brief account on Exine Stratification in angiospermic pollen. 20
- b. Describe NPC system of classification for pollen grains.
- c. Discuss in detail role of Palynology in relation to honey industry.
- d. Explain various tests carried out to determine pollen viability.

Q.5 Attempt any four short notes:

- a. Lepidocarpon 20
- b. Papilionaceous corolla
- c. Anomalous secondary growth in Stem of Aristolochia.
- d. Adelphy
- e. Calamostachys.
- f. Methods of Short term Pollen storage

---XXXX---